

Imaging and COVID-19 (coronavirus) Coming to the Imaging Department

In response to the COVID-19 (coronavirus) outbreak, we are putting extra measures in place to protect patients and staff. We have made some changes to the way things are done.

- ✓ Only patients and staff are allowed in our hospitals at the moment to protect people and help prevent the spread of infection. We ask that you come on your own or with only one essential carer, parent or guardian. Please bring proof of your appointment for entry to the hospital.
- ✓ On arrival at the hospital you will be asked to use hand gel and be offered a surgical mask to wear. You will also be asked a few questions about your potential exposure to coronavirus and will be tested only if you are showing symptoms such as a new continuous cough OR fever OR loss of/ change in smell or taste.
- ✓ We are installing Perspex screens and floor markings in all of our departments to show you the separate ways you should go in and out of the department.
- ✓ Our waiting areas have reduced seating available so that we can space chairs further apart for social distancing purposes.
- ✓ You will be called in by your radiographer, radiologist or health care assistant. They will be wearing a surgical mask and may wear additional PPE. They will escort you to the imaging room.
- ✓ All patients with known or suspected COVID-19 are being imaged at separate times in separate parts of the department and all equipment is deep cleaned afterwards.
- ✓ If you have either of the following symptoms please contact us to rearrange your appointment:
 - A high temperature of over 37.8 degrees – you feel hot to touch on your chest or back
 - A new, continuous cough – you have started coughing repeatedly
 - Loss of/ change in smell or taste - you cannot smell or taste anything, or things smell or taste different to normal
